Celebrate all things rhino on World Rhino Day

On World Rhino Day this year we invite you to join us in celebrating all things rhino. World Rhino Day takes place every year on the 22nd September, read on to find out why we celebrate all things rhino on World Rhino Day and ideas for your own rhino party. We have put together some wonderful party activities to help you to host your very own rhino celebration.

Why not share your party celebrations with us on our Facebook page. We are @helpingrhinos or email us at rhino@helpingrhinos.org

Why Celebrate all things rhino on World Rhino Day

Rhino have been around for millions of year but sadly their numbers have dwindled and they are now an endangered species.

At the start of the 20th century there were over 500,000 rhino living in the wild, however today there are less than 30,000.

Their numbers have decreased so dramatically due to human activity, with the main threats to rhino today being poaching and habitat loss.

As a result rhino desperately need our help to survive.

Rhinos are incredible creatures and are the second largest land mammal after the elephant.

Rhino are what we call an umbrella species, this means that if we protect the rhino we will also protect all the other species that share their habitat. By helping to save the rhino you are in turn saving so many more species.

Although rhino are some of the biggest creatures in the world they are herbivores which means they eat grass, plants and bushes.

Rhinos are very distinctive and known for their awesome horns.

There are so many reasons why we think rhinos are awesome and why every year on 22nd September we celebrate all things rhino on World Rhino Day.
